The Faculty of Philology of the University of Opole cordially invites you to participate in the Interdisciplinary Academic Conference

Micro-Cultures of Gender

co-organized by the graduate students of Applied Gender Studies at the University of Opole, the Sociologist Scientific Circle of the University of Opole,

the Faculty of Philology of the University of Opole,
the Institute of Sociology at the University of Opole.

The conference will take place on June 1 2017
at the University of Opole, Opole, Poland.

The conference Micro-Cultures of Gender is an opportunity to investigate gender issues on the micro level across different academic disciplines. The main field of our interest is the individual and her or his social environment. There are, at least, two relevant reasons for which it is significant to examine the micro level. According to the first one, 'gender' is regarded as a notion constructed and visible primarily at the micro level. The second cause is opposite to the first one – 'gender' is not easy to be noticed at the micro level.

The Conference language is English.

The speeches are supposed to last approximately 20 min + 10 min of discussion. Should you like to take part in the conference, please, fill in our application form which can be found here: <http://badania.uni.opole.pl/index.php/218241>.

The papers accepted by the review committee will be published in an edited volume (ebook) issued by the University of Opole Press, and are due by August 31 2017.

We welcome anyone studying the field of cultural studies, sociology, biology, gender studies, philosophy and related disciplines. Below you can see several examples of topics that reflect the micro-realities in which gender plays an important role:

- Micro economy of gendered household relations
- Household division of labour
- Various aspects of parenthood and upbringing
- Nontraditional professional gender roles
